- UKTPH seeks to reduce the level of tax risk arising from its operations as far as is reasonably practicable by ensuring that reasonable care is applied in relation to all processes which could materially affect its compliance with its tax obligations.
- Processes relating to different taxes are allocated to appropriate process owners and include relevant controls to mitigate key risks.
- Appropriate training is carried where applicable for staff who manage or perform processes which have tax implications.
- Advice is sought from external advisers where appropriate.

5. Attitude towards tax planning and level of risk

UKTPH manages risks to ensure compliance with legal requirements in a manner which ensures payment of the right amount of tax.

When entering into commercial transactions, UKTPH seeks to take advantage of available tax incentives, reliefs and exemptions in line with, and in the spirit of, tax legislation. UKTPH does not undertake tax planning unrelated to such commercial transactions.

The level of risk which UKTPH accepts in relation to UK taxation is consistent with its overall objective of achieving certainty in the group's tax affairs. At all times UKTPH seeks to comply fully with its regulatory and other obligations and to act in a way which upholds its reputation as a responsible corporate body. In relation to any specific issue or transaction, the Board is ultimately responsible for identifying the risks, including tax risks, which need to be addressed and for determining what actions should be taken to manage those risks, having regard to the materiality of the amounts and obligations in question.

6. Working with HMRC

UKTPH seeks to have a transparent and constructive relationship with HMRC through regular meetings and communication in respect of developments in UKTPH's business, current, future and retrospective tax risks, and interpretation of the law in relation to all relevant taxes.
